RANDACCIO:

"Don't want to represent him?"

[REDACTED]
"Something happened over the weekend. Some guy named Cipolla from New York went there and tried to do something. The only reason I know what the name is he said that crazy guy that I represented that did the ----- (inaudible). Its got to be Cipolla. I said 'yeah.' He said that's the last name, from up in that big city. He means New York."

RANDACCIO:

"Cipolla is over here."

[REDACTED]
"He's talking about a guy named Cipolla out of New York City."

RANDACCIO:

"What's he talking on this phone?"

[REDACTED]
"He didn't. He said to me you know the guy that painted your house. He was trying to tell me the name, you understand?"

RANDACCIO:

"Yeah."

[REDACTED]
"I said 'yeah.' He said, 'Well, that name from up in that big city.' He means a guy named [REDACTED] from New York City."

"Yeah."

BU 92-174

[redacted] "He can't tell me any more. The guy evidently tried to do something up in Toronto, either tried to pay off somebody, or kill somebody, and the whole G-- D----- thing blew up. Everybody found out about it. [redacted] wants every penny in front before he represents Pat. He could be disbarred. Whatever this guy did is bad."

b6

"Took the $500, the bum, now he's going to -----(inaudible)."

[redacted] "He's going to get disbarred if he touches the case. Whatever [redacted] did is bad, either he went and tried to bribe somebody, or he tried to kill that guy. One or the other. There was all kinds of trouble up there. I told him I would meet him in the office at five. He's going to tell me about it."

[redacted] backed out."

[redacted] "He's backing off unless he gets some money in front of him. He's afraid he's going to get disbarred, got to be something bad. That's what I say, it's either got to be somebody trying to kill that guy or somebody trying to bribe somebody."

"You're just imagining."

[redacted] "It's got to be bad enough to be disbarred."

RANDACCIO:

"----- (inaudible) I mean why would this guy?"

BU 92-174

[REDACTED] "Whatever it was, they presented it today at the hearing, and the judge refused bail because of it."

"Refused bail, eh?" (Randaccio seems rather surprised and stunned) "I'll be in the Globe."

[REDACTED] "Not the details. [REDACTED] is the one that told [REDACTED] about it. He'll be in court all day. It's got to be bad whatever it is."

b6
b7C

"Turned the bail down?"

[REDACTED] "And now [REDACTED] is afraid to touch it. Whatever [REDACTED] did is bad and everybody knows about it up there. The judge even knows what he did. [REDACTED] said everything exploded right in his face this morning in court. (Pause) It had something to do with this last weekend, over the weekend. Whatever this guy from New York did, he did it over the weekend. ----- (inaudible) upset, you don't know what happened yet. ----- (inaudible)."

RANDACCIO:

"It don't make sense to me. He's afraid of getting disbarred. He wants the money in front. Now what does he mean by that. Either he's taking the case, or he's not taking the case. He's got to get paid for his services."

[REDACTED] "If he's got to take a risk he wants the money in front, that's all."

BU 92-174

RANDACCIO: "Risk? After all, he's a lawyer.

talked to one of the VOLPES about wanting another lawyer for her husband. According to the informant, [redacted] indicated she wanted an attorney known as [redacted] (phonetic) instead of [redacted] of Buffalo, so therefore efforts to retain [redacted] have been dropped. RANDACCIO told [redacted] that [redacted] was then over at his house and he, RANDACCIO, should have thrown her out. The informant stated that during an off hand remark, RANDACCIO told [redacted] "if they bail me for contempt, you go apply for welfare."

b6

The informant stated that RANDACCIO mentioned that ROY (CARLISI) had taken off for fear of being [redacted] enaed. The informant stated that RANDACCIO mentioned he should have taken off a long time ago since he, RANDACCIO, was expecting a subpoena. The informant stated that [redacted] suggested to RANDACCIO that he and [redacted] make some inquiries in order to determine what crimes the Grand Jury is investigating. [redacted] mentioned to RANDACCIO that she has a friend represented by [redacted] and that her friend was supposed to go in and sign a release with [redacted]. She stated that [redacted] will get the settlement in this case and keep it for himself. In pointing out how various investigative agencies are operating, [redacted] informed RANDACCIO that her mother received a telephone call the other day from a man representing himself as a representative of the Buffalo Fire Insurance Company and started asking questions. The informant stated that DARLENE GRANN's mother asked the man to give her a telephone number where she could call him and that a telephone call later proved that the agency making this call was the Retail Merchants Credit Association. [redacted] as a secretary to a Buffalo attorney, then proceeded to have the Retail Merchants Credit Association make inquiries as to the identity of the person asking for this information.

she was going to ask RANDACCIO to have her telephone moved into her bedroom. She further indicated that her employer, [REDACTED] and RANDACCIO would drop by around 7:00 p.m. that night.

According to [REDACTED] RANDACCIO, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were observed entering [REDACTED] apartment at approximately 7:45 p.m. that night. While they were together [REDACTED] made reference to having been at the airport and telephoning FRED RANDACCIO about NATARELLI's case in Canada. [REDACTED] advised that PASQUALE NATARELLI may get a four year sentence in Canada and indicated that the trial date has been set for 6/7/65. If the case is adjourned, the attorneys for NATARELLI will apply for bail again and made reference to a price of $3,500 and "if it's over six days it's $10,000."

b6

According to [REDACTED] RANDACCIO was upset over this information and pointed out that some of his people are going to ask him about NATARELLI's case and all he, RANDACCIO, will be able to say is "your guess is as good as mine." RANDACCIO also complained to [REDACTED] that they (the VOLPE Family) were the ones who made all the money.

The informant stated that during another discussion RANDACCIO expressed his disappointment with [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Buffalo attorneys who are representing him during his appearance before the Federal Grand Jury sitting in the Southern District of New York. RANDACCIO explained he certainly did not need a lawyer to take the Fifth Amendment. The informant stated that [REDACTED] [REDACTED] explained to RANDACCIO that because RANDACCIO did take the Fifth Amendment during his appearance before the Grand Jury on 5/11/65, and since he is being called back again, they will ask him the same questions again. If RANDACCIO continues to take the Fifth Amendment before the Grand Jury it is possible that the foreman of the Grand Jury will order RANDACCIO to return at a later date. If this happens, RANDACCIO should request the foreman of the Grand Jury to have him, RANDACCIO, taken before a judge, who will order his return since these recalls would begin to assume harassment.

Later that night RANDACCIO again stopped by to see [redacted] and she indicated to RANDACCIO that she wanted to stop by [redacted]'s house to pick up her pay check. On 5/25/65, informant stated that FRED RANDACCIO stopped by the apartment of [redacted] for about 30 minutes that morning and asked for the keys to [redacted] car. The informant stated that comments made by RANDACCIO and [redacted] indicated that RANDACCIO was expecting to receive a large sum of money that day, and he is to turn this money over to someone who will deliver the money "up there" (It is possible that RANDACCIO is referring to a collection being taken up to defray the cost of attorneys representing PASQUALE NATARELLI in Canada, and that the money so collected will be delivered to Toronto by [redacted]). The informant stated that RANDACCIO advised that he had received a bill from Buffalo Attorney [redacted] of the Law Firm of Pacini, Neri and Runfola, and RANDACCIO complained over the fact that [redacted] was trying to make a "kill" on his being subpoenaed in New York.

b7C

It is noted that a subpoena was served on RANDACCIO at Gina's Restaurant, 530 Rhode Island Avenue, at 2:10 P.M., 5/7/65, ordering his appearance before the Federal Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York on 5/11/65.

RANDACCIO stated that he was seriously considering getting a former FBI man in New York to represent him since it was costing him $1,000.00 and railroad fare to have someone from PACINI's office represent him. RANDACCIO also stated that he could have picked up a lawyer for $200.00 in New York City.

On 5/18/65, [redacted] advised that around 3 o'clock that afternoon, FRED RANDACCIO told [redacted] that he was suspicious of a telephone company employee who had been sent over to repair a short in her telephone set. RANDACCIO told [redacted] that the telephone company employee had probably put a new transformer in her telephone. Informant stated that [redacted] discounted RANDACCIO's suspicion stating that the telephone company employee had brought in a new telephone in a box and that she had seen the "old guy before."

Informant stated that later that night RANDACCIO returned to the apartment of [redacted] with [redacted] [redacted] PASQUALE NATARELLI, and her child, [redacted]

The informant stated that while the above individuals were in [redacted] apartment, they discussed the extortion case against NATARELLI in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. RANDACCIO advised [redacted] that a lawyer came in and wanted to talk to NATARELLI on May 17, but he, RANDACCIO, feels that if NATARELLI would tell these people he wanted a legal aid lawyer as he was going to "cop a plea" for a two-year sentence, then maybe the cost of the lawyers would not be so much. RANDACCIO questioned how the attorneys or the courts could take the word of [redacted] although most of the conversation between [] NATARELLI and the VOLPEs is on tape. RANDACCIO indicated that he was aware of the conversations on the audio tape transcribed by the Toronto Police Department since he appeared to quote portions of the conversation wherein one of the VOLPEs referred to NATARELLI as "PALMER." According to the informant, RANDACCIO admitted that one of the VOLPEs was leading PATTY (NATARELLI) on by saying "Come on, you tell him PALMER."

b6
b7C

[] an employee of Buffalo Attorney [] pointed out to RANDACCIO and [] that she believes that RANDACCIO and [] are overconfident in the outcome of this case. She stated that the prosecution has evidence against NATARELLI in Toronto and it is not so easy to discredit one man's testimony which is supported by the audio tape. She remarked that the law is different in Canada because the accused must prove his innocence whereas in the United States the prosecutor must prove the guilt.

b6

The informant stated that during another conversation, RANDACCIO commented that BUDDY RUSSO died and indicated that he would not be able to attend the wake or funeral. Informant stated that [] also related that her aunt flew up from Florida in a jet since [] is in the hospital.

RANDACCIO mentioned that he has not seen JOHN CAMMILLERI in over a week and asked [] if she has seen her "compare." [] denied having seen CAMMILLERI and pointed out that he did not even come over on Christmas with a present for her son, PERRY. She stated that CAMMILLERI gave a present to PATTY (NATARELLI), however, [] believes that NATARELLI bought the present to cover up for CAMMILLERI. [] explained that JOHN CAMMILLERI has never liked her and she does not care if he ever comes to her house. RANDACCIO told [] that all of the CAMMILLERIs are crazy and [] added that she heard that CAMMILLERI's wife was at Meyer Memorial Hospital having a nervous breakdown. The informant stated that NATARELLI tried to console [] by pointing out to her that the men arrested with him (the VOLPE family) were "yellow rats" and had to bring some other man in to handle a situation for them. RANDACCIO stated that "they (the VOLPEs) were using us." [] added that everytime "you guys" try something, you run into bad luck. RANDACCIO denied this pointing out that PATTY (NATARELLI) is "impulsive" and goes into things "blind." RANDACCIO admitted he was in jail and was sentenced for ten years but was out in two and had to go back in jail for three more years.

b6
b7C

The informant stated that [] told RANDACCIO that PASQUALE NATARELLI never lets her talk about anybody and that he, NATARELLI, would never talk about anyone.

The informant stated that RANDACCIO again brought up the problems he was having with JOHN CAMMILLERI and that CAMMILLERI's family will not have anything to do with him, CAMMILLERI, whom RANDACCIO referred to as a degenerate and a man who holds a grudge.

[] advised that she was with NATARELLI the first time she met JOHN CAMMILLERI and at that time CAMMILLERI told her that since she was going with NATARELLI, she should never let CAMMILLERI see her with that "John Brown" whom she used to go with.

On 5/19/65, the informant stated that RANDACCIO met with [] and [] for a few minutes that night. According to the informant, RANDACCIO left [] apartment at 8 o'clock that night and informed her that he would be back in two or three days.

b7C

It is noted that RANDACCIO, PETER A. MAGADDINO, [] and [] had reservations aboard an American Airlines flight leaving Buffalo, New York that night for La Guardia Field. They were all scheduled to appear before the Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York the next morning at 10 o'clock.

On 5/20/65, informant stated that during RANDACCIO's absence from Buffalo, [] and [] met at [] apartment between 6:30 and 9 o'clock that night. The informant explained that [] explained to [] her fear of doing anything or getting involved with other men as long as she was dating RANDACCIO. She cited several instances wherein RANDACCIO had warned her about having coffee at restaurants during the day with other attorneys working in the same building. She pointed out that RANDACCIO always telephones her between 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and questions her concerning where she has been for lunch, who she was with, etc. She stated that at one time she spoke up to RANDACCIO in front of [] and told RANDACCIO that he had no right to interfere in her work. She also complained to RANDACCIO that such action on his part would only hurt [] and his law practice and further that she is locked up in her apartment every night.

b2
b6
b7C

On 5/21/65, [] advised that RANDACCIO was observed entering the apartment of [] around 2:15 that afternoon and noted that [] was recuperating from a foot operation and confined to her apartment. Informant stated that RANDACCIO left the apartment to get groceries for [] and pay a gas bill.

When RANDACCIO returned to the apartment at approximately 9 o'clock that night, [] was at the apartment with []. The informant stated that FRED RANDACCIO proceeded to berate the character of JOHN CAMMILLERI and how he, RANDACCIO, hated CAMMILLERI. He referred to CAMMILLERI as a "degenerate" and a "bum" who has been avoiding him for the past two weeks. He stated that CAMMILLERI is "underhanded" and "sneaky." RANDACCIO stated that CAMMILLERI has not been around to the restaurant to offer any help nor has he been around to see [] since NATARELLI has been arrested. RANDACCIO accused CAMMILLERI of owing him approximately $10,000.00 and that when CAMMILLERI took the trip to California, RANDACCIO loaned him money which CAMMILLERI has never repaid.

b7C

RANDACCIO cited an incident wherein CAMMILLERI borrowed $1,700.00 on his insurance which involved RANDACCIO's son, ALBERT RANDACCIO. The informant stated that RANDACCIO's son got a letter from the insurance company pointing out that his son would be suspended from doing insurance business because of this debt. RANDACCIO told the informant that he had to pay $1,700.00 to have his son, ALBERT RANDACCIO, reinstated as an insurance agent.

The informant stated that RANDACCIO also cited instances wherein members of the CAMMILLERI family tried to have their girls marry nephews of FRED RANDACCIO.

The informant stated that after RANDACCIO described several incidents of misdoings on the part of CAMMILLERI, he stated that CAMMILLERI would have to come to him at any cost. He repeated that CAMMILLERI will have to come to him because "I'm the chief." RANDACCIO stated that "I'm the guy that took him out of the mud hole and I'm the guy that he is going to have to get on his knees and ask forgiveness for all he's done to me."

RANDACCIO stated that he is aware of the things CAMMILLERI has been doing, who he has been working with, the way he has been working and the underhanded way he has been carrying on these activities. RANDACCIO stated that he will question JAMES V. LA DUCA about CAMMILLERI's actions and added that if he gave JAMES LA DUCA $20.00, he would open up his heart to him. He remarked "You give this bum (LA DUCA) a $20.00 bill and he tells you everything there is to know."

In another conversation the informant stated that RANDACCIO complained that more money seemed to be going out than they were taking in. He stated that he and NATARELLI owe VICTOR RANDACCIO $10,000.00 on a note that he signed for. The informant stated that both [redacted] and [redacted] indicated that they are aware of the problems RANDACCIO is having with the bookmaking operations since NATARELLI has been arrested. [redacted] explained to RANDACCIO that she knew that BENNY (SPANO) took over for NATARELLI. RANDACCIO stated that ROCKY (possibly ROCCO VACCARO) was stealing customers from their bookmaking operation and that RANDACCIO had to throw ROCKY out. RANDACCIO also instructed BENNY (SPANO) that he is to take over this operation and keep it going for NATARELLI. RANDACCIO indicated that the reason he threw ROCKY out of the operation was because ROCKY had started working on GEORGIE RAFT (SAM BONITO). The informant advised that RANDACCIO indicated he has been forced to personally take over some of the bookmaking operations since NATARELLI's arrest. The informant learned from RANDACCIO that either he or NATARELLI had loaned someone $1,500.00 and RANDACCIO had collected $700.00 on this loan earlier that day. He stated to [redacted] that she should realize that the way things are "Today you got it, tomorrow you ain't got it." RANDACCIO asked [redacted] to keep her fingers crossed and be patient and things will work out all right, although it is going to cost money for attorneys for NATARELLI as well as for his, RANDACCIO's, trips to New York.

b7c

BU 92-174

According to the informant, RANDACCIO explained to [] and [] that the Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York is investigating rackets in unions and they believe he, RANDACCIO, is connected with his brother, VICTOR RANDACCIO. He stated that the Grand Jury also believe that he is mixed up with his son, ALBERT RANDACCIO, in the building business.

b7C

RANDACCIO explained that he has a "phoney job" and the "poor guy []" is worried sick over the publicity surrounding his appearance before the Grand Jury and the bank is closing in on him too. The informant stated that RANDACCIO told [] that there would be no sense in his firing RANDACCIO since he would be proving nothing and if he did let him go, he, [] would have to do some explaining. RANDACCIO stated that "I convince the guy, see."

b6

Informant stated that in another conversation RANDACCIO pointed out that the FBI had been over to BENNY SPANO's house in connection with an investigation involving home construction.

The informant stated that he also learned that PASQUALE NATARELLI was much closer to RANDACCIO's father than FRED RANDACCIO. The informant stated that RANDACCIO told [] and [] that his father was much like NATARELLI in that they jumped into things blindly without thinking. He stated that neither his father nor NATARELLI were cautious and referred to his father as a "swindling old (obscene)." He further stated that the large red ring which NATARELLI wears at the present time was given to NATARELLI by RANDACCIO's father.

b7C

The informant stated that the discussions between [] and FRED RANDACCIO terminated with [] attempting to blame NATARELLI's problems on the fact that he did not follow warnings in his horoscope.

On 5/22/65, the informant furnished no pertinent information relating to RANDACCIO and his associates. The informant stated, however, that RANDACCIO was observed at [] apartment from around 8 o'clock that night until after 12 midnight.

b6
b7C

BU 92-174

On 5/23/65, [] advised that around noon-time that day, Buffalo Attorney [] contacted [] to determine RANDACCIO's wishes concerning their trip to Canada on Tuesday, May 25. [] advised that he could leave on Monday, however, May 24, 1965, is a Canadian Holiday and he may have trouble finding anyone in Toronto.

b6
b7C

[] advised [] that he could probably locate RANDACCIO at Dewey's Diner on Chippewa Street, but before going to Dewey's Diner, they were to the hospital to see FRED MOGAVERO.

The informant stated that [] is also representing [] in a case in the City Court in Buffalo, New York, which is scheduled for Friday, May 28, 1965.

On 6/30/65, the informant advised that [] has informed one of her relatives that she, [] will leave Buffalo on Sunday afternoon and drive to Rochester where they expect to stay until the next day. [] informed RANDACCIO that she was going to take a week's vacation on 7/12/65. She also informed [] that she was going to Rochester on Sunday, 7/4/65, and she wanted her money before leaving.

The informant stated that later that night, RANDACCIO was observed at []

On 7/1/65, the informant stated that [] contacted her mother shortly before 1:00 that afternoon and instructed her mother to bet $15.00 on the daily double and named the horses as [] and []. These horses were running that night at the Hamburg Raceway.

The informant stated that RANDACCIO contacted [] around 2:20 that afternoon and informed her that he was almost killed in a car accident. He explained that while he and his brother VICTOR were in his Mustang, a large tractor-trailer hit his car after the tractor brakes locked. RANDACCIO stated that he would have to drive his Cadillac since his Mustang is now at Al Maroone's Ford Company for repair. He stated the cost of these repairs would be over $300.00 and that his brother VICTOR was driving when the accident occurred.

informed [] that he was going to have to take a trip, however, he could not tell her where this trip would take him. [] was unsuccessful in her needling RANDACCIO in attempts to determine his itinerary, however, she learned that RANDACCIO planned to take a plane from Buffalo to another city located about 200 to 250 miles from Buffalo in time to make flight connections on another plane. RANDACCIO was scheduled to return on the following Tuesday in order to attend a wedding celebration at Syracuse, New York. It is noted that the sister of VINCENT A. SCRO is scheduled to be married at St. Peter's R. C. Church in North Syracuse, New York, at 11:00 on 7/10/65, and RANDACCIO has indicated that he will attend.

b7C

[] also learned from RANDACCIO that after attending the wedding on 7/10/65, he will leave Buffalo again by plane and is expected to be gone for a week. RANDACCIO indicated to [] that he expects to do a lot of flying on this trip and that he is afraid of the newspaper publicity in the event his proposed travel plans were known. He also indicated that "the old man" did not like publicity involving their names.

b6
b7C

Shortly after 8:00 that night, the informant advised that RANDACCIO returned to [] and informed her that his plans to leave Buffalo by plane had been cancelled. He indicated that he, RANDACCIO, did not want to travel in the first place.

The Buffalo Office is giving consideration to the fact that RANDACCIO may have been selected by STEVE MAGADDINO as his representative at a top level meeting of La Cosa Nostra. It is also possible that someone other than RANDACCIO may make this trip in behalf of STEVE MAGADDINO. The Bureau and the Albany and New York Offices have been advised of RANDACCIO's original plans to travel by separate communication.

On 7/3/65, the informant advised that RANDACCIO was observed at the apartment of [] between 5:00 and 5:30 P.M. that day.

The following is a summary of pertinent information received from highly placed confidential sources and informants in a chronological order, concerning FRED G. RANDACCIO:

April 1, 1965
[redacted]

RANDACCIO was reported to be in the downtown area of Buffalo, New York that day with NICK RIZZO, an admitted gambler and associate of "The Arm." RANDACCIO was at the apartment of his [redacted] New York from around 8:00 p.m. until 11:45 p.m.

April 2, 1965
[redacted]

An unidentified Toronto, Ontario, Canada attorney offered to come to Buffalo to discuss the charges against PASQUALE NATARELLI in Toronto with [redacted]. This offer had been made to Buffalo attorney [redacted] who related the information to [redacted] through his secretary, [redacted]. RANDACCIO told [redacted] that she should set up a meeting with this attorney at midnight. There was some indication that Buffalo attorney [redacted] NI would be present.

April 3, 1965
[redacted]

RANDACCIO met with [redacted] at approximately 8:00 p.m. that night to discuss the case against PASQUALE NATARELLI. [redacted] informed RANDACCIO that he saw the transcript of the case against NATARELLI, that is the way the police in Toronto, Ontario had typed it up. [redacted] pointed out that although they have a good case, he believes that the VOLPES and NATARELLI have a very good defense.

b6
b7C

BU 92-174

He commented that [] the victim of the extortion plot and one of the VOLPES had a reason to get into a fight, but NATARELLI did not have reason to get into a fight with []

b6
b7C

During this meeting, the informant advised that RANDACCIO has a business card of a man known only as [] (Phonetic). At the time this man was mentioned, the name of [] was unknown to the Buffalo Office. It is noted that by letter dated 6/15/65, the []

[] advised the Legat of the background of one [] aka [] born [] in [] who was then believed to be a resident of Nassau, Bahamas. Among other things, the letter from Headquarters of the [] mentioned that inquiries have indicated there have been telephone contacts between [] and []

b7D

This information is being set forth in detail in case captioned PASQUALE NATARELLI; []; []; VOLPE; EUGENE VOLPE; RICHARD ANGLE - VICTIM, ITAR - EXTORTION; CONSPIRACY."

This informant also advised that [] described the NATARELLI's defense on the fact that if the VOLPES and NATARELLI had threatened [] in January of 1965, why would the victim, [] be doing business with him in March, 1965.

b7C

At this point in the discussion, [] mentioned, "They even sent a man from England, had blue blood with a title of Sir." RANDACCIO suggested that they send Buffalo attorney [] to Toronto to represent them in this matter, however both [] and [] agreed that [] is not well regarded in Canada and would be of little use to them.

b6
b7C

[] pointed out that NATARELLI remained in jail in Toronto without bail, and that neither the VOLPES nor NATARELLI can receive visitors and they are permitted six packs of cigarettes per week while in jail.

BU 92-174

The VOLPES and NATARELLI were then being represented in Canada by Toronto attorneys [redacted] and [redacted] informed RANDACCIO that eventually the VOLPES will be barred from entering the United States and that NATARELLI will not be permitted to re-enter Canada. [redacted] stated that the prosecution will have to turn over to the defense attorneys transcripts of the testimony given by the victim, [redacted], as well as copies of any other evidence obtained by the police during their investigation.

b2
b6
b7C

April 5, 1965

[redacted] FRED G. RANDACCIO and his [redacted] discussed the domestic problems of PASQUALE NATARELLI who is currently facing trial in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, with members of the "VOLPE Family" on charges of extortion. RANDACCIO became extremely angry over allegations that he, RANDACCIO, is in possession of NATARELLI's money and income, and is using this money to defend NATARELLI. This allegation, which originated with NATARELLI's [redacted] caused RANDACCIO to inform [redacted] that she was not to visit [redacted] at her apartment any more.

b7C

[redacted] stated that [redacted] was of the opinion that FRED RANDACCIO was working for NATARELLI and she blamed NATARELLI for this mistaken belief, because he, NATARELLI, is letting [redacted] think he is a "big man."

April 7, 1965

FRANK J. VALENTI, a capo regima in the "MAGADDINO Family" met in Rochester, New York; with [] and [] These three individuals are subjects of separate AR cases of the Buffalo Office and they all reside in Rochester, New York.

During this meeting, FRANK J. VALENTI outlined plans to organize or at least take over certain bookmaking in the Rochester area. VALENTI pointed out that he, [] and [] would have to meet and formalize their basic attack or approach to gamblers of the Rochester area.

b6
b7C

During the discussions, VALENTI complained about certain individuals from Buffalo, who appear for meetings with him on the spur of the moment, which caused him a great deal of inconvenience. VALENTI stated he did not want any interference from certain "yokels" in Buffalo, and he did not want these "yokels" to be sent to Rochester to give him assistance. He stated that if Buffalo wanted to send him someone, they could send [] or another "Amico Nostro."

b6
b7C

BU 92-174

VALENTI stated that he gets his orders directly from the "Old Man" whom he later identified as DON STEFANO. VALENTI was perturbed over certain directions or suggestions made by a "capo decina" in Buffalo as to what should be done in Rochester. VALENTI stated that he recognizes FRED RANDACCIO as the "sutto boss" (under boss) and he is required to take orders from him. He pointed out, however, that he, VALENTI, is still the "capo" (boss) and he gets his orders directly from the "Old Man" in Niagara Falls. VALENTI complained that by getting stories and information third hand, the facts changed with the change of hands, and he was going to take his problems directly to the "Old Man."

One of the problems which concerned VALENTI was a fight he was trying to start with MURPHY JAMES RUSSO, aka Murphy Russolosi, the brother of the missing JAKE RUSSO.

April 13, 1965

Buffalo attorney [redacted] returned from Toronto, Ontario, Canada that day and informed RANDACCIO that there was a "big blowup" in court that day during some sort of hearing in the NATARELLI case. [redacted] indicated that a telephone call originating from someone known as CIPOLA in New York, to one of the prosecution witnesses, caused the commotion in court; and that one of the defense attorneys is fearful of being involved in disbarment proceedings because of the telephone call. [redacted] who was present at the time, informed [redacted] that apparently [redacted] is afraid that he will be involved in disbarment proceedings because someone had either tried to bribe or kill someone in connection with this case.

b6
b7C

Later that night, RODENBERG informed [redacted] and RANDACCIO that the trial of NATARELLI in Toronto had been set for the month of May, 1965, however no bail had been set for NATARELLI. RANDACCIO instructed [redacted] to inform NATARELLI's [redacted] of the no-bail decision.

BU 92-174

RANDACCIO informed [] that the only member of the VOLPE Family he knows is [] and he only met him once.

The informant stated that after [] left [] told RANDACCIO that he had better talk to [] and tell him that he, [] talks too much. In discussing their efforts to raise bail money for NATARELLI, [] told RANDACCIO that [] had called to tell her that [] (Phonetic) would be in Buffalo on the 15th or the 16th, and that [] would get in touch with him right away. FRED G. RANDACCIO advised Buffalo attorney [redacted] that he had received a subpoena calling for his appearance in New York City, New York on Tuesday, May 11, 1965. RANDACCIO stated that he would take the Fifth Amendment "all the way down the line" in front of the Grand Jury.

BU 92-174

It is noted that a subpoena was served on RANDACCIO by SAA [redacted] at 2:10 p.m. on May 7, 1965, which ordered the appearance of FRED G. RANDACCIO before the Federal Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York on May 11, 1965, to give testimony in a matter involving the alleged abduction of JOSEPH BONANNO in New York City.

b6
b7C

Also on May 7, 1965, it was learned that the wife of PASQUALE NATARELLI left Buffalo and went to Toronto, Ontario to talk with a member of the VOLPE family. Mrs. NATARELLI was interested in obtaining the services of another lawyer for her husband.

RANDACCIO, contemplating the possibility of being charged with contempt before a Federal Grand Jury in New York City, told [redacted] that in the event he was jailed she was to go apply for welfare. RANDACCIO stated that ROY CARLISI, a member of the "MAGADDINO Family" had fled Buffalo in fear of being subpoenaed.

b7C

It should also be noted that Federal Grand Jury subpoenas were also served by FBI Agents in Buffalo and Niagara Falls, New York on PETER A. MAGADDINO, son of STEVE MAGADDINO, as well as SAM RANGATORE and JOSEPH S. BONGIORNO, a nephew of STEVE MAGADDINO. These individuals were ordered to appear before the Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York at 10:00 a.m., May 11, 1965 to answer questions about the disappearance of JOSEPH BONANNO.

It is also noted that a subpoena was served on STEVE MAGADDINO at 10:40 a.m., May 3, 1965, which commanded his appearance before the Federal Grand Jury on May 5, 1965.

May 15, 1965
[redacted]

FRED RANDACCIO was observed assisting [redacted] into her apartment at 51 Essex Street, Buffalo, New York, around 9:20 a.m., May 15, 1965. [redacted] was confined to her bed as a result of a foot operation at a Buffalo Hospital.

b6
b7C

BU 92-174

Later that night, RANDACCIO, [] and [] called on [] and discussed the case involving PASQUALE NATARELLI in Toronto, Canada. [] informed RANDACCIO that NATARELLI may be sentenced in Canada, and that a trial date had been set tentatively for June 7, 1965. If the case is adjourned, according to [] the attorneys for NATARELLI will apply for bail again. RANDACCIO was upset over this information and pointed out that some of his people are going to ask him about NATARELLI's case, and that all he, RANDACCIO, is in a position to say is "Your guess is as good as mine." RANDACCIO complained that members of the VOLPE family were the ones who made all the money. He also expressed his disappointment with [] [] two Buffalo attorneys, who are representing him during his appearance before the Federal Grand Jury, sitting in the Southern District of New York.

[] explained to RANDACCIO that since he, RANDACCIO, took the Fifth Amendment before the Grand Jury, and since he is being recalled, the Grand Jury will ask him the same questions again. If RANDACCIO continues to take the Fifth Amendment, it is possible that the foreman of the Grand Jury will order RANDACCIO to return at a later date. With further speculation, [] stated that RANDACCIO should request the foreman of the Grand Jury to have RANDACCIO taken before a judge who would recognize that the recalls would begin to assume harrassments.

b2

b7C

May 17, 1965
[]

FRED G. RANDACCIO was observed that day with VINCENT A. SCRO and CHARLES A. MONTANA, both sons-in-law of STEVE MAGADDINO.

RANDACCIO advised that he had received a bill from Buffalo attorney ALFRED PACINI and complained over the fact that PACINI was trying to make a "kill" on his being subpoenaed in New York City. RANDACCIO stated that he was seriously considering getting an attorney who was a former FBI man in New York City to represent him since it was costing him $1,000 and railroad fare to have PACINI's office represent him. He stated he could pick up a lawyer for $200 in New York City.

b2
b6
b7C

May 18, 1965
[redacted]

On the night of May 18, 1965, RANDACCIO met with [redacted] and [redacted] to discuss NATARELLI's case. RANDACCIO was of the opinion that if NATARELLI would complain that he wanted a legal-aide lawyer as he was going to "cop a plea" for a two year sentence, the cost of the lawyers would not be so much.

RANDACCIO questioned how the attorneys or the courts in Toronto could accept the testimony of RICHARD ANGLE, although most of the conversations between ANGLE, NATARELLI and the VOLPES were on tape. RANDACCIO indicated he was aware of the conversations on the audio tape which were transcribed by the Toronto Police Department.

While discussing another matter in [redacted] apartment, RANDACCIO mentioned that he has not seen JOHN CAMMILLERI in over a week and asked [redacted] if she had seen his "compare." [redacted] denied having seen CAMMILLERI, pointing out that he did not even come over on Christmas with a present for her son, PERRY. She stated that CAMMILLERI gave a present to PATTY NATARELLI, however, she believes that NATARELLI actually purchased this present to cover up for CAMMILLERI.

[redacted] told RANDACCIO that JOHN CAMMILLERI has never liked her and she does not care if he ever comes to her house. RANDACCIO explained to [redacted] that all of the CAMMILLERIS are crazy and [redacted] added that she had heard that CAMMILLERI's wife had been confined to Meyer Memorial Hospital with a nervous breakdown.

b7C

In discussing the case in Toronto, Canada, RANDACCIO commented that the men arrested with NATARELLI

BU 92-174

(the VOLPE brothers) were "yellow rats" and they had to bring some other men in to handle the situation for them. RANDACCIO accused the VOLPES of "using us."

May 21, 1965
[redacted]

FRED RANDACCIO again visited the apartment of [redacted] where [redacted] and [redacted] were present. RANDACCIO proceeded to berate the character of JOHN CAMMILLERI, whom he described as a "degenerate" and a "bum" who has been avoiding him for the past two weeks. He stated that CAMMILLERI is "underhanded" and "sneaky."

b2
b6
b7C

He accused CAMMILLERI of not stopping by Gina's Restaurant and offering to help, nor has he been around to see [redacted] since NATARELLI was arrested.

He further accused CAMMILLERI of owing him approximately $10,000 and when CAMMILLERI took a trip to California a few years ago, RANDACCIO loaned him money for the trip which CAMMILLERI has never repaid. RANDACCIO cited an incident wherein CAMMILLERI borrowed $1,700 on his insurance policy, which involved RANDACCIO's son, ALBERT RANDACCIO. At that time, RANDACCIO's son was working as an insurance agent, and almost had his license suspended because of the debts incurred on the policy by CAMMILLERI. RANDACCIO stated that his son was later reinstated as an insurance agent after FRED G. RANDACCIO paid the $1,700 debt.

RANDACCIO continued in describing several incidents of wrongdoings on the part of CAMMILLERI. RANDACCIO stated that CAMMILLERI would have to come to him because he, RANDACCIO, is "the Chief." He stated that he, RANDACCIO, is the man who took CAMMILLERI out of the "mudhole" and he, RANDACCIO, is the man that CAMMILLERI will have to get on his knees and ask forgiveness for all he has done. RANDACCIO told [redacted] and [redacted] that he is aware of the things CAMMILLERI has been doing, with whom he has been working, and the underhanded way he has been carrying on these activities.

b7C

BU 92-174

RANDACCIO stated that he would question JAMES V. LA DUCA, the son-in-law of STEVE MAGADDINO, about CAMMILLERI's activities, adding that if he gave JAMES LA DUCA $20, he would tell him everything he knew.

RANDACCIO continued his tirades and complained at some length that more money seemed to be going out than they were taking in. He stated that he and NATARELLI were indebted to his brother, VICTOR RANDACCIO, in the amount of $10,000 because of a note VICTOR RANDACCIO had signed for them.

It was noted that both [] and [] indicated that they are aware of the problems RANDACCIO is having with the bookmaking operations since NATARELLI was arrested. [] explained to RANDACCIO that she knew BENNY SPANO had taken over for NATARELLI. RANDACCIO stated that ROCKY VACCARO was caught stealing customers from the bookmaking operations and RANDACCIO was forced to throw ROCKY VACCARO out of his horse book. RANDACCIO also instructed BENNY SPANO that SPANO is to take over this operation and keep it going for NATARELLI. He indicated that he threw ROCKY VACCARO out of his horse book because ROCKY had started "working on" SAMUEL BONITO, aka Georgie Raft.

According to RANDACCIO, he has been forced to personally take over some of the bookmaking operations at Buffalo since NATARELLI's arrest on 3/17/65.

RANDACCIO stated that [] and [] should realize their financial difficulties; however they should be patient since things will work out alright, although it is going to cost money for attorneys for NATARELLI as well as for his, RANDACCIO's trips to New York City.

RANDACCIO explained to [] and [] that the Federal Grand Jury in the Southern District of New York is investigating rackets in unions, and they believe he, RANDACCIO, is connected with his brother, VICTOR.

RANDACCIO told [redacted] that PASQUALE NATARELLI was much closer to his father, UMBERTO RANDACCIO, than he was to him. RANDACCIO described NATARELLI and his father as being much alike in that they jumped into things blindly without thinking. He stated that the large red ring worn by NATARELLI was given to him by his, RANDACCIO's, father.

STEVE MAGADDINO and his son, PETER A. MAGADDINO, met with one or two unidentified men in Niagara Falls, New York that day, one of whom could have been his under boss, FRED G. RANDACCIO. On March 19, 1965, a surveillance was conducted by SA [redacted] and SA [redacted] at Buffalo, New York, to determine whether or not ROY CARLISI, a member of the "MAGADDINO Family" was leaving Buffalo to enter Canada via the Peace Bridge. At 1:55 p.m., ROY CARLISI was observed in the company of FRED G. RANDACCIO entering Darone's Fargo Restaurant, Fargo and Niagara Streets, Buffalo, New York. At that time, the following vehicles were observed parked at the restaurant in the parking lot:

On June 24, 1965, BU T-1 advised that since it is known by members of the "Arm" that Canadian authorities are holding arrest warrants for FRED G. RANDACCIO and members of "The Arm" no one from this group will visit the Fort Erie Race Track in Canada.

GAMBLING ACTIVITIES

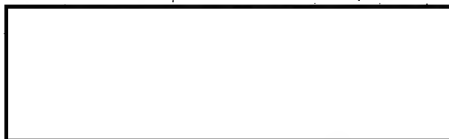

As previously reported, informants of the Buffalo Office have furnished information that FRED G. RANDACCIO is known as "the enforcer" and "the under boss" in the "MAGADDINO Family" of La Cosa Nostra. "The Arm" has also been described as an organization which controls the activities of a number of West Side Buffalo bookmakers and gamblers and individuals engaged in shylocking activities.

On March 29, 1965, BU T-3 advised that the Intelligence Unit of the [redacted] Buffalo, in 1961 raided a "bookie joint" operated by LOUIS C. [redacted], which employed the following individuals:

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted]

BU 92-174

b6
b7c

BU T-3 stated that [redacted] was paid $75 weekly for working in this "bookie joint" as a "figures man." According to BU T-3, a "figures man" is an individual who works in the horse book, computing the amounts owed to and owed by the bookie to horse bettors. He stated that the final figure arrived at by a "figures man" is known as a particular bettor's "bottom."

In regard to the appearance of FRED G. RANDACCIO at the Finger Lakes Race Track at Canandaigua, New York, BU T-3 stated that he saw RANDACCIO and PASQUALE NATARELLI with their two girl friends at the Finger Lakes Race Track in the summer of 1964. BU T-3 stated he could not recall the date or the time he saw RANDACCIO at this track.

In March, 1965, BU T-4 was contacted on several occasions for information concerning the gambling activities of "The Arm" in Buffalo, New York. According to BU T-4, there is no such thing as a "syndicate" operating in the Buffalo - Niagara Falls, New York area, and that although the "MAGADDINO Family" has four or five gambling establishments where bets are accepted, there are many other bookies operating in the greater Buffalo and Niagara Falls area who have no connection with members of the "MAGADDINO Family" and are apparently allowed to operate.

BU T-4 stated that in some instances, "The Arm" will tell a bookmaker that they are moving in and will take a percentage of the winnings. However, BU T-4 could not identify the name of any bookmaker or gambler who is operating under this arrangement at the present time.

BU T-4 explained that "The Arm" has been hit so heavily in respect to basketball game losses that they have quit taking bets on college basketball.

BU 92-174

On April 29, 1965, BU T-4 advised of the following information concerning members of "The Arm" who are engaged in taking horse bets and bets on sporting events:

DONALD DI CARLO and ANGELO BONITO were then operating bookmaking room at 60 Days Park, Buffalo, utilizing Buffalo telephone numbers 886-3929 and 885-6359. BU T-4 stated that a third unidentified individual has been working these telephones most of the time and the bookmaking room is located at a house which sets back from Days Park and the room is located downstairs in the building and is barricaded.

[redacted] was then operating a bookmaking room, utilizing Buffalo telephone numbers [redacted] and [redacted]. He stated that PASQUALE RAIMONDO works the telephones during the day and [redacted] works the telephones at night. It is noted that [redacted] was recently arrested in a bookmaking raid by the Buffalo Police Department at 196 Prospect Street, Buffalo, New York.

b7c

BU T-4 stated that both TODARO and STEVE CINO are on a slightly lower level than BENNY SPANO in the gambling hierarchy in Buffalo, and they both take orders from RANDACCIO. He stated that BENNY SPANO hangs out at Dewey's Diner on West Chippewa Street and periodically runs a "skin" game above the garage at the rear of his home. He stated this game was run by NICK RIZZO, however, he recently had an occasion to enter the building where this game is played with BENNY SPANO, and noted that it would be almost impossible for the local law enforcement officials to raid this game since BENNY SPANO has installed a pulley-type ladder, which is the only entrance to the second floor where the game is carried on.

At the time of this interview, BU T-4 stated that the "skin game" had been closed down for approximately one month, and he anticipated that it would not open again for at least another month.

During the course of another investigation, it was determined that the aforementioned members of "The Arm" were then operating horse books and sports betting operations at the addresses listed below and as of May 18, 1965:

RE: MEETING PLACE OF "THE ARM," GINA'S RESTAURANT,
RHODE ISLAND STREET,
BUFFALO, NEW YORK

During the past few years, informants and physical surveillances have shown that the following hoodlums and gamblers are observed almost daily meeting at Gina's Restaurant, 530 Rhode Island Street, Buffalo, New York. FRED G. RANDACCIO, the under boss of MAGADDINO, can be located at this restaurant for a few hours each morning, and up until March 17, 1965, PASQUALE NATARELLI was also meeting at this location each morning.

DANIEL G. SANSANESE

On May 20, 1965, BU T-4 stated that on the early afternoon of that day, all horse books operated by "The Arm" suddenly moved. BU T-4 theorized that they moved to other locations due to the gambling raids conducted by the Buffalo Police Department on that date at 249 South Elmwood Avenue, Buffalo, New York.

Informant stated that the horse books operated by RICHARD TODARO and THOMAS CALLEA were not available on the early afternoon hours of that date. For this reason BU T-4 felt that this move was a temporary thing, since neither THOMAS CALLEA nor RICHARD TODARO had any other location to move to. BU T-4 stated that RICHARD TODARO was extremely nervous and afraid because he had heard that several indictments had been returned by a Federal Grand Jury concerning bookmaking in Buffalo.

In regard to BENNY SPANO, BU T-4 stated that on Sunday, May 16, 1965, BENNY SPANO lost $1,500 on a bet that the New York Mets would lose both games of a double header. The gambler who won the bet went to SPANO and tried to collect, but SPANO told him to wait a week or so and he would get the money.

According to BU T-4, the gambler went directly to FRED G. RANDACCIO's house on Richmond Avenue, Buffalo, and told RANDACCIO about the situation. The next day, the gambler met SPANO at Gina's Restaurant, and SPANO promptly paid the gambler in full.

On June 4, 1965, BU T-4 stated that ANGELO BONITO and DONALD DI CARLO had re-opened their bookmaking operations at the rear of Rose's Variety Store, 144

BU 92-174

Hudson Street, Buffalo, New York. Two telephone numbers are listed for this operation, however only one telephone has been installed. BU T-4 stated that the telephone is similar to a business telephone in that when the second line rings, a button can be pressed and the first caller will be placed on "hold" while the second call is answered.

BU T-4 stated that BENNY SPANO is re-opening his "skin game" in approximately one week. The game will be in an apartment over a garage located at the rear of SPANO's residence at 858 Prospect Avenue, Buffalo, New York. Entrance to the apartment can be made from the door at the extreme right of the garage.

According to BU T-4, immediately after THOMAS CALLEA moved his bookmaking room from 47 Lovering Avenue, Buffalo, he notified his bettors that he would be operating from telephone TL 3-8723 on a temporary basis. Approximately one week later, CALLEA moved from this telephone number and is now taking betting action from telephone number TT 5-7793. CALLEA is working the telephone himself and is accepting both horse bets and sports action.

BU T-4 stated that RICHARD TODARO has just moved his horse book operation to a new location, utilizing telephone TT 3-6641. A man known as [redacted] is working the telephone at this location, which is used only for taking sports action.

On June 10, 1965, BU T-4 advised that BENNY SPANO's "skin game", which would open on June 11, 1965, would be operating as a private club called "Blue Banner Social Club." BU T-4 stated that printed invitations had been made for the grand opening of the Blue Banner Social Club, operated by BENNY SPANO.

On June 18, 1965, BU T-4 stated that RICHARD TODARO was then conducting his bookmaking operations at 52 St. John's Place in Buffalo. The horse room is located on the second floor in the front apartment and [redacted] answers the telephone between 12:00 noon and 2:00 p.m. each day. BU T-4 stated that [redacted]

[] drives a 1962 or 1963 Chevrolet Belaire, two door, hardtop, and is working another bookmaking room for TODARO, which handles only horse betting action.

b6
b7C

As previously reported, RANDACCIO and members of "The Arm" formerly hung out at the Connecticut Athletic Club in Buffalo. BU T-4 stated that the club has folded and the owners are presently trying to sell the club for $40,000.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

Wedding of ANGELO MERLINO,
February, 1965

On May 14, 1965, BU T-5 advised that AUGUSTINE "WILLIE" TERRITO, the brother-in-law of FRED G. RANDACCIO, no longer operates Augustine's Restaurant on Washington Street, immediately across the street from the Ellicott Square Building, in Buffalo. He stated that TERRITO's brother SAM TERRITO and his wife are operating the Aragon Restaurant at Main and Wadsworth Streets in Buffalo.

BU T-5 stated that the daughter of WILLIE TERRITO was married to ANGELO MERLINO of Buffalo in February of 1965. He stated that ANGELO MERLINO is the son of the family which owns and operates the Merlino Cheese Company in Buffalo. He stated that ANGELO MERLINO is a playboy and often gets in trouble in night clubs and restaurants in the Buffalo area.

On May 14, 1965, BU T-5 made available the following list of vehicle registrations observed during a surveillance by a member of the New York State Police and a member of the Erie County District Attorney's Office during a wedding reception on February 20, 1965.
